What's that with all your useless muscles? You can't defeat your opponent by merely defending.

Two minutes only...
Who's next!?

Damn!

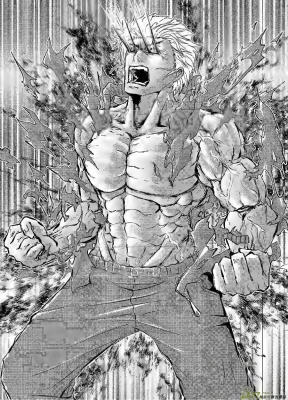

Wait...

It's not over yet...

He can still stand up?
Impossible!

When two objects collide into each other, the air in between would be squeezed out like wind.

The childhood game 'marks' is based on that principle.

— The server's a shrewd fellow, doesn't you say?

When the Devil Executioner tightens all his muscles, making them suddenly bulge as well as squeezing all the gaps! It's so powerful that it implodes his clothes!

Which also explains why in most manga, trousers wasn't explode. It's because the leg muscles have larger blocks and fewer gaps.

You're annoying you know!!

This momentum...

Could it be...?

Radio Gymnastics
Killer Punch!

The most participated sport in our country is neither football nor basketball...but radio gymnastics! It has been a long time since the first set was introduced in 1901.

As long as you keep doing it everyday, it will improve your health and build your body. Yet 99% of the students did it perfunctorily...it wouldn't be effective at all that way!

However, if you think radio gymnastics is just some regular exercise, you're completely wrong!

Legend says within the carefully designed moves of different sets hides marvelous combat martial art!

Known as 'Gym Emperor', Wong the Devil Executioner is among the few who understand the essence of such martial art! And he refined all the sets of the martial art into "nine moves".

Known collectively as
'Radio Gymnastic Killer Punch'!
